

Eastern Illinois University
Department of Biological Sciences
Microbiology Instructor/Non-tenured

The Department of Biological Sciences at Eastern Illinois University is seeking a full-time non-tenured track instructor beginning August 2021 to extend through May 2022, with annual renewal possible. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate coursework in microbiology as well as non-majors biology coursework, with attending laboratory components.

Qualifications

A successful candidate should have a Master's degree or Doctorate degree in biology or a closely related field with at least 8 graduate credits in microbiology. The successful candidate will be a strongly motivated and enthusiastic individual with a firm commitment to excellence in teaching. Evidence of successful teaching at a primarily undergraduate institution and scholarly activity is preferred. Commitment to diversity and inclusive excellence is required.

Applications

A complete application will consist of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, and contact information for at least three professional references. Application materials must be submitted as separate files using Interfolio, <http://apply.interfolio.com/79824>. Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2020.

Additional information is available at www.eiu.edu/biology. For questions regarding the search please, contact Dr. Sanghoon Kang, Chair of the Search Committee, at skang3@eiu.edu.

Eastern Illinois University is an Affirmative Action/ Equal Opportunity Employer – minority/female/disability/veteran – committed to achieving a diverse community.